The first event on the programme was a run-a-bye, owing to the withdrawal of Flying Free and Jessie Ritzen was substituted against Mavis Baden, the latter winning in 28 seconds, the rabbit getting away through the escapes. A rabbit was not caught until the fifth event. The fourth event proved to be a long chase. Devil's Dream and Flery Clair ran the rabbit down to the escapes and then back up the field and down again. The rabbit just played with the dogs and seemed to enjoy the chase. The dogs ran themselves out and their trainers caught them and the rabbit was placed in the escapes. The time of this chase was 2.47.

The next meet will be Thursday afternoon, when the Cullen hotel stake for all age dogs will be held for a purse of $200 added money. The events held yesterday were as follows:

Varsity Schedules Games.

Varsity Schedules Games.

The Salt Lake high school football team will play a practice game with the university football aquad next Thursday afternoon at Cummings field. Other contests of the future have not definitely been set with two exceptions. There are the games with the Colorado School of Mines and Colorado college, the one being set for October 28 and the other for Thanksgiving day.

Three full teams were at practice Tuesday afternoon. Besides the thirty-six men in suits, several who are a little crippled from Saturday's game were on the side lines.

Park City Wants Game

The high school seniors defeated the freshman football team Tuesday by a score of 45 to 6. Godby, the freshman's best man, had his arm twisted in the game and had to stop playing.

The Park City high school has sent a challenge to the winners of the interclass games, which has aroused more interest in them and caused the different teams to get down to harder practice.

SATURDAY'S GAME ATTRACTING ATTENTION

The old-timers' football team which will play the University of Utah Saturday on Cummings field has been cheered up by the news that Tobin. Walker, Pitt and Wade will be able to play with them. Tobin of All Hallows and Walker of the A. C., Logan, have agreed to have their match football game on Friday afternoon. This arrangement will permit them to play in the big game Saturday. LINEMEN'S STRIKE BETTERMENT OF AND GYMNASIA Movement to Establish Them In Cities of the Third Class.

CONVENTION AT THE UNIVERSITY OF UTAH

Purpose of Their Creation Is Explained and Arouses Enthusiasm.

The convention held at the University of Utah yesterday afternoon had for its object the establishment of libraries and gymnasia in all the small towns of the State. The movement is not a new one, but it has never been undertaken in just the present form. There has been a great deal of effort made for several years to establish these institutions in the cities and towns of the State, but all such attempts had been more or less abortive, because they have lacked the support necesthey have lacked the support necessary to place them on a secure basis. The present movement can best be explained by quoting a portion of the speech made by Prof. Howard R. Driggs to the delegates:

"As the law now stands any city of the third class or town must, on a vote of fifty citizens, call for a vote on the proposition to create a library fund or a library and gymnasium fund. If the library alone is established, a one-mill tax will be allowed; if both the library and gymnasium are established, a two-mill tax will be allowed. This tax is, however, optional with the people. They may or may not create the fund. And it applies only to cities of the third class and to incorporated towns. The larger cities are not concerned with the law, but they should be just as interested in the movement, for the big cities need playgrounds and branch libraries and gymnasium facilities. It is the cause of the neglected child that we have espoused. Whatever will best reach him and best minister to the development of manhood and womanhood is I believe, comprehended in the development of manhood and wom-anhood is. I believe, comprehended in the project at hand."

Briefly as outlined, the plan is to establish a library, where the youths of the towns may congregate and read and study. The gymnasium which will be established in connection with the library will be a place where the boys may exercise and play, and it will also serve as a bait, so to speak, for the libraries.

Following Mr. Driggs, E. E. Gowans spoke on the influence of the movement, and said that he believed in the value of the gymnasium, but was glad to see it used as a bait for the David O. McKay said that he was thoroughly in sympathy with the movement, and he gave several illustrations to show that many boys had been reformed by these libraries and the gymnasia connected with them.

In the discussion which took place after the speeches it was explained that $100,000 would be needed to put the movement on a permanent financial basis. This was $50,000 less than was required for the public library in Salt Lake, and was not, therefore, an unduly large sum for the purposes of educalarge sum for the purposes of educa-tion. It would allow $1000 for every town which started the movement. The purpose of the outside aid was to assist in keeping the movements alive and not to pay for their establish-

It was decided to appoint a committee, with the mayors of the cities as chairmen, to take charge of the movement. The delegates from the central committee were to meet in January to consider the matter further.

The Mayor of Eureka said that steps were being taken in that sity to were being taken in that city to es-tablish a library, and delegates from Cedar City, Salina, Kanosh, Manti and American Fork all expressed the great-est enthusiasm in the movement, and said those towns would probably under-take the establishment of both libraries and gymnasia.

The convention had received the exceutive approval of Governor Cutler, who called a preliminary convention, at which delegates were appointed for the afternoon meeting. The delegates num-bered one from each third class town, three from each second class town and five from Salt Lake, which was the only city of the first class.

FIGHTING BOB EVANS TALKS OF GREAT CRUISE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 15.—Rear Admiral Robley Evens, commander-in-chief of the Atlantic fleet, arrived in Washington today and came directly to the navy department. Secretary Metcalf being temporarily confined to his home by a slight allment, the admiral spent some time in consultation with Acting Secretary Newberry. The admiral was looking in excellent physical condition and was disposed to look upon retirement as a joke. The purpose of his visit to Washington, he said, was to spend about a week or ten days in consultation with the officials of the Navy Department in relation to the approaching voyage of his great fleet. Much remains to be done to prepare the ships for the cruise, not the least of which is the change in the personnel of some of the officers of the fleet below the grade of capiain, in conformity with the decision of the navigation bureau to limit some of the officers of the fleet below the grade of captain, in conformity with the decision of the navigation bureau to limit to a year and a half the tour of duty of such officers. In the course of the progress of the work now going on, the ships at the various navy yards, it is also necessary for the commander of the fleet to advise with the bureaus of construction and steam engineering, and as it is possible to facilitate the work very much by personal conferences, instead of by correspondence, Admiral Evans decided to spend some time at the department.

Admiral Evans made some statements relative to the results obtained at target practice that caused his bearers to glow with pride at the ability of their blue-jackets, but details of this remarkable practice are withheld from publication for politic reasons.

TEDDY ASTONISHES THE NATIVES OF STAMBOUL

STAMBOUL, La., Oct. 15.—At 6 o'clock tonight no news of the President's day hunt had been received here. Arrivals from the Bear Lake encampment tell maryellous stories of the President's hardihood and capacity for roughing it. When he carried his blankets with him from the upper camp last Friday and that night and next morning ale only cold bread and meat he had taken in his saddle pockets, they maryeled that a President could be so easily satisfied, but when he jumped into Bear Lake for a swim upon rising at daybreak this merning their astonishment was almost without bounds. The thermometer registered at the time less than forty degrees and most of the others present were hugging the camp fire. The President plunged into the water as soon as he arose. As he approached the edge of the lake he bantered some of the other members of his immediate party to join him, but none did so. He swam a distance of a hundred yards to an island, and then returned, declaring upon isnding that the exercise had been most exhibitating and that the water was warmer than the air.

The fact that he seems almost tireless in the saddle is most favorably commented upon, and is regarded as quite marvellous for one of such exalted position and supposedly sedentary life.

COLLEGE CLASSES HAVE ROUGH HOUSE

Freshmen Succeed in Worsting Their Opponents, the Sophomores.

While some two hundred delegates to the State Library and Gymnasium convention were meeting in the assembly hall at the Museum building at the university on Tuesday, and discussing the ways and means of reforming the young and rising generation, one of the livest rough houses and general flag rushes held at the school this year was in session on the campus not three hundred feet away. To the din of the sounds of "Rah-rah-rah, 1911," and then 1910, the educators and parents discussed the methods of reforming such conduct.

They did not specifically call atten-tion to the strange, unexplainable sounds that drifted up and into the room, but perhaps more than one speakroom, but perhaps more than one speaker wondered why such a demonstration should be held on the one day when the convention should be in session, and why it should be at the particular occasion when the meeting was being held on the campus. The freshman class, however, had not been officially notified of the intended meeting of the library conference, or would have probably postponed the out-break another day. The sophomores, undoubtedly judging from the outcome of the contest, would have been glad to have had the matter indefinitely postponed.

Several freshmen posted their numerals in the drawing room in the Physi-cal building. They were immediately removed by the sophomores. Upon the urgent invitation of one of the profes-fors, the scene of the conflict was transferred to the campus around the flagpole. A more elaborated flag bearing the numerals of the class was hoisted on the flagpole by the class of 1911. The fifty freshmen who had participated in this ceremony had not long to wait for the class of 1910. The pride of the sophomore class, consistpride of the sophomore class, consist-ing of some fifteen or twenty, made a charge for the flag. A mixed yelling and wrestling match ensued. The fresh-men captured, bound their victims and sat down to wait. A few lusty yells followed. Then some more waiting and yelling, after which one of the pro-fessors came from the meeting and in the name of the faculty ordered the rough house ended. He directed the rough house ended. He directed the freshmen to release their captives, and upon their failing to do so he cut their bonds. The president of the freshman class refused to take the flag down, but an easier mark to the professor's angry looks crawled up the pole and dropped the flag. Exit professor. the flag. Before the freshmen were aware, about fifteen had been given a shower bath. The sophomores finally abandoned the hose, but not before some one had cut one.
